

Barn, Crops Burn In Chester County; Loss Is $12,000

Two horses, several pigs and the Summer's crop of oats, wheat and hay were destroyed yesterday afternoon when the barn of Wesley Cook, of Pottstown RD 2, burned to the ground.

Cook said the barn was valued at $10,000 and the contents at $2000.

The flames were visible from many roads in northern Chester county as Cook's barn, situated on Porter Mill road, approximately one-third of a mile from Route 22, caught fire suddenly at 3:20 p. m.

The owner was on his way from Pottstown, where he had gone to buy a new battery for his truck, when a neighbor told him of the loss.

Mrs. Cook was in the house, looking after her daughter, Marjorie, 12, who was in the window and saw the flames.

"Holy smoke," she exclaimed, and called her mother.

No one else was in the house, the other children being at school, Cook said. No one, to his knowledge, was in the barn.

Everything was all right when I left," he sobbed, as he stood near the barn, the flames roaring between the stone walls. "I can't understand what happened. All those years of work."

Two horses were destroyed in the blaze—both mares, one five years old and the other seven. Cook had bought one of the horses only this week.

Numerous pigs were also in the barn when the fire started. Firemen and neighbors were able to get most of them out, but at least three were burned.

Daniel W. Guldin, North Coventry township police chief, who directed traffic at the scene, was forced to shoot the suffering hogs.

Two Pottstown firemen were injured. Douglas Breidenbach, 21, of the Good Will Fire company, was treated in the Pottstown hospital for minor burns of the face, neck and left hand. He was driven there by Josiah Foley in Foley's car.

Harry Yergey, working with the Goodies, gave first aid treatment to Paul Egert of the Philadelphia Steam Fire engine company, whose right hand was scorched.

Yergey also helped Mrs. Cook, who wept uncontrollably when she saw her barn go up in flames. She was led to the rear seat of an automobile and not told of the loss.

As a Hobby, He Finds Honey-Making a Sweet Business

Charles A. Lambour, Pottstown jeweler and Cedarville apiarist, has found bee-keeping a fascinating hobby since childhood. Now that the cold weather is on hand, he lets his six colonies of bees rest for the winter and takes most of their honey from their hives. In the left photograph, Lambour puts on his protective clothing before he goes near his excitable insects. Then (second from left), he lifts a lid from the box, preparatory to removing the honey. In the third photo, Lambour examines a frame of honey. The average frame contains seven pounds of clear, sweet honey. Finally, Betty Glanski, Lambour's young assistant, puts the frame in an extractor. The frame fits inside the extractor and when a handle is turned, the honey is forced from the wax cells into the bottom of the apparatus, from where it is tapped later.

KEEPING BEES 'HONEY' OF A JOB

Local Jeweler's Hobby
Makes Him Authority:
He Has 180,000 of Them

Selling honey, may be just a commercial enterprise to some, but to Charles A. Lambour taking care of tens of thousands of bees yearly has long been a fascinating hobby.

On his place in Cedarville, Pottstown RD 1, the Pottstown jeweler keeps half a dozen colonies of honeybees, each containing about 30,000 of the busy insects.

They have just produced an estimated 3000 pounds of clear "blossom" and "clover" honey, both considered first grades of honey.

The darker product, produced in early fall when the best blooms are gone is left for the bees to live on during the winter.

RETAIL PRICE of the best grades of honey, Lambour said, is between 60 and 70 cents a pound.

Of the approximately 500 pounds each colony produces during the season, Lambour leaves 60 pounds for winter feeding, occasionally augmenting this with a sugar and water mixture if necessary.

During the cold weather, Lambour closes up the front of the bees' homes leaving only about a three-inch space for them.

In spite of the weather, however, the insects can keep warm. They cluster in the cold weather.

Owls Plan to Initiate 75 Men Next Month

More than 75 men are expected to be initiated into Pottstown Owls Next 1949 in ceremonies at the end of next month. It was announced at last night's lodge meeting by William L. Nyman, president.

The class will be the Armistice Day class and with applications for it closing last night, Nyman said the outlook is very promising.

The remainder of the session, attended by 40 members, was devoted to routine business.

Dewey Attacks Administration As 'Coming Apart at the Seams'

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 14 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey declared tonight the Truman administration is running "in a dozen different directions at once" and "coming apart at the seams."

Campaigning in President Truman's home state, the Republican candidate for the White House slammed at the Missouri Democratic regime in addressing a crowd of 15,000 persons jammed into municipal auditorium.

Dewey called the present administration "tired" and "confused." The crowd cheered and whistled.

The GOP candidate got a hand and some laughs when he said "We have been treated to an almost daily demonstration of what happens in

Bond Issue for New School Favored at Limerick Session

By acclamation, approximately 125 Limerick township residents last night unofficially approved a $210,000 bond issue for the construction of a new elementary school in the township.

It was the first sizeable expression of concerted public opinion since it was announced that Limerick township voters would decide on the Nov. 2 election whether or not the bond issue should be floated.

There was only scattered opposition expressed last night as the township people met in the Limerick fire hall. They heard a detailed explanation of how the new school would have altered the budget this year, and asked several questions of the speakers.

The session was quiet. The meeting room of the fire hall was full, with many men and women seated on the tables in the rear, around the window ledges or standing patiently.

Only Limerick area residents send their children to the four one-room schools which would be closed if the new school were built.

STIFFER OPPOSITION is expected from the Linfield people. The question will be brought home to them when a second public meeting is held Tuesday night, Oct. 19, at 7:45 o'clock, in the Linfield fire hall.

At a meeting of the Linfield Parents-Teachers association, however, held the past Tuesday night, unanimous approval was given the new school encouraging the proponents of the plan.

Members of the township school board who are solidly in support of the new school, have urged voters to attend both sessions and speak their minds.

Most of last night's meeting was devoted to an explanation of A. M. Kulp superintendent of Montgomery county schools of the State's consolidation program and of the financial position of Limerick township if the new school were erected.

He began by assuring the audience I am merely going to explain the project. I wouldn't want anything I said to be construed as an argument for or against the project.

KULP GAVE a complete breakdown of what the budget figures would be in the 1948-49 fiscal year if the school were in existence now as compared to the current budget figures.

A real estate tax increase of two mills (from 14 to 16) would support the new school he declared.

At the conclusion of Kulp's discussion, John H. Dunlap, vice president of the Limerick township school board, took the floor for a brief and favorable talk about the proposed new school, and then volunteered to answer questions.

Present plans call for a 12-room building plus an office teachers' room and health room.

The building would be one story high situated on Lewis road between Linfield and Limerick, and would accommodate pupils of the first six grades.

If it is erected four one-room buildings would be closed and the Linfield and Washington schools would be used for the seventh and eighth grades.

ALTHOUGH TWO antagonistic questions demanded precise details about the construction and size of the building, Dunlap refused.

"We decided to put up as much building as we could for (Continued on Page Twenty-four)

Child Burns Arm Badly In Automatic Iron Roller

The three-year-old daughter of a Parkerford funeral director had her left arm burned deeply from the fingers to the shoulder early last night when she caught it in the roller of an automatic iron.

Sara Jane White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. White was saved from even more serious injury to the arm by three adult leaders of the Boy Scouts who were meeting in the White home.

Summoned by Mrs. White's screams, one, dismounted the iron roller, permitting the child's arm to be freed. Sara Jane was rushed to Pottstown hospital where her arm was treated and put in a cast.

NEW AMBULANCE TO ARRIVE TODAY

$7100 Vehicle Is Second
Purchased This Year
For Community's Use

A new ambulance for the Good Will Fire company will be driven here today from Philadelphia by Robert Rohn company.

Purchased for $7100 it will be the second modern ambulance bought by the Goodies this year. A similar model arrived the past January.

The new arrival will resemble the other 1948 machine, with a Packard construction and a heavy body.

The new, streamlined ambulance will be on public display in the Goodies fire house, Hanover street, and the Reading railroad, all day tomorrow and Sunday.

THREE PATRONS can be accommodated in the new ambulance. It will be equipped with a complete first-aid kit and one of the company's four rescuers and it has an attachment for one Good Will's portable iron lung.

The new ambulance was ordered the past July 14. It was manufactured in Freeport, Ill., at a factory specializing in ambulance work.

The engine is the most powerful made by the company, with 35 horsepower and a 200-cu. in. engine. The vehicle is capable of speeds up to 100 miles an hour.

Due to be scrapped by the Good Will Fire company is a 1929 ambulance, a faithful vehicle with over 96,000 miles on its speedometer.

The average life of an ambulance is figured at approximately three years, but the Goodies' ambulance is a real beauty.

Democrats Hear Plea to Give Area State Legislative Representative

A plea for the Pottstown area to name its own representative to the State government and a lambasting of the 80th Congress' "road map" for the Pottstown area were the main points of a Democratic caucus held last night in the Pottstown area.

C. Roy Bush, president of the Pottstown Democratic club, presided over the caucus. He called for a "road map" for the Pottstown area.

He pointed out to the 50 men and women present that the Third district which sends representatives to the General assembly, now lumps together such far-flung communities as Cheltenham and Pottstown.

After the November election, Bush promised "the Pottstown

DRIVE PUSHES FUND TOWARD HALF OF GOAL

Scouts, Leaders, Members
Of Pilot Club Take Part:
Related Donations Asked

By HARRY TOLAND
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Pottstown came $1446.68 closer last night to owning a good airport.

The Scout-conducted drive, reaching into almost every borough, Limerick, "fell $2768.37 short of the $5130 goal.

But, even so, it was a "long step," one of the longest made yet, toward getting $72,000 in Federal and State money for the municipal airport.

The drive brought the total cash in the Airport Fund to $2381.13, not quite half the amount needed to get the bigger lump sum.

But members of the Pilot Club of Pottstown who drove the scouts, and from collector points said last night that the push is still on for them.

They will not only accept donations but will pick them up at contributors' homes if the donor calls one of them or The Mercury.

THE DRIVE, WHICH began shortly after 7 o'clock and wound up after 11 o'clock, reached many not only Pottstown homes.

"We feel that there are still many people who were not home tonight and who would contribute and we want to leave that opportunity open to them," said Herbert N. Maier, club president.

Scouts scoutmasters and leaders and Pilot club members all entered into the drive.

If Pottstown might be accused of not giving it all, the scouts, their leaders and the Pilot club members were not liable for the same charge.

All did their work unstintingly. Most admitted they met little or no resistance on the contributor's part.

Failures came they said when they encountered these situations:

1. No one was home.
2. The resident had already given (or said he had).
3. No one was home but a penniless baby sitter.
4. The master of the house.

Dog Show Visitors To See Exhibition Of Animal Obedience

Will your dog "heel" at command? Will he lie down and never budge for five minutes while you're out of the room after you've told him to?

You won't learn how to make your dog behave that way at the Valley Forge Kennel club dog show Saturday at Manawgony park. But there will be an opportunity to see dogs doing these feats.

The obedience demonstration will be put on by half a dozen dogs and their handlers.

The dogs will heel (walk just behind the handler's left foot) retrieve objects, retrieve objects by men alone, stay sitting three minutes when the handler is out of sight, and remain quiet for five minutes with the handler out of sight.

The last two tests are performed while the dog is purposely led through a crowd as a distraction. In the retrieve-of-objects test the dog must pick up one of an assortment of articles once belonging to his handler.

ONE OF THE dogs participating will be a three-year-old owned by Carl T. Ressler, 70 North Frankfort street.

The other dogs are owned by members of the Berks county Dog Club. (Continued on Page Twenty-four)

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1948

It would be better that England should be free than that England should be compulsorily sober. For with freedom we might attain sobriety, but, in the other alternative, we should entirely lose both freedom and sobriety.—William Magee, Archbishop of York.

Government as a Price Fixer

THERE is much to be said both for and against the government's direct support of agricultural prices, which makes it impossible for them to fall below some pre-determined level.

But, whether you are for or against the policy, you should understand the influence it has on keeping the cost of food, along with some other commodities, high.

According to Senator Williams of Maryland, the government recently spent $32,000,000 to hold up egg prices—and disposed of the eggs it bought at a loss of over $24,000,000.

Early in the year it bought potatoes at $2.75 per hundred pound bag and sold them back to farmers for almost nothing, with the stipulation that they could not be used for human consumption.

It bought large quantities of raisins and honey to keep the price high. And it has spent hundreds of millions to prevent major farm crops, such as grains and cotton, from falling in price below a fixed level.

Price support will be continued, as both parties have endorsed it.

However, those who blindly blame processors, manufacturers and retailers for gouging the public should realize how potent an influence it is on the cost of living—particularly on the necessities of life.

So, next time you go into a food store and feel like denouncing the operator as a burglar, keep that in mind.

The government is the most powerful price fixer there is.

Pork Chop Standards

PORK chops are selling to cents a pound below recent prices. This suggests it would be a good thing if we could more commonly get on the pork chop standard an employer encountered down south. Talking over the hiring of a local laborer, he discovered his wage rate could not be set until the worker had gone leisurely down the road to the meat market. Coming back he said his hourly pay would have to be 75 cents.

The prospective employer asked why he had to go down to the meat market before deciding what his pay should be.

"Well, boss, when an occasionally works at changes the prevailing price of pork chops."

When we get over the hump of prices (we have passed a few minor humps already and we are told the next one will be food) we may be surprised to find that there can be a decline all around. Even the General Motors basic wage rate could go down 3 cents an hour if commodities their workers buy decline in price.

A widening circle of prices down and productivity up (in lieu of widespread wage decreases) would be a welcome dividend. And it might continue for a much longer period than its opposite trend which has been with us, at least so far, only three years in any serious way.

The Cost of Government

IN VARIOUS campaign speeches, Governor Dewey has dwelt on the need for rigorous economy in government. And that, whatever one's political affiliation, is absolutely essential to the survival of an economic system which has done more for more people than any other—and which is based on individual incentive, enterprise and ambition.

No one can deny that the American people, through their government, have accepted enormous financial commitments for foreign aid, the national defense, and other unavoidable projects. And the very size and burden of these commitments is all the more reason for cutting every possible nickel from the domestic Federal budget, and for pruning duplicating bureaus to the limit.

We must have a government which will divorce itself from activities which can be carried on by business. The people must stop looking to government for benefits they should provide through their own work and thrift and foresight. Finally, we must have a national policy that recognizes that ruthless taxation, long enough continued, will stop our development as a nation, destroy the roots of progress, and court actual bankruptcy.

An affirmation of these principles by the next president and congress, regardless of the political party in power, is necessary to the preservation of this nation.

Penalty for Voting?

To the Editor: The borough appears to be bent and nearly broke, financially. So are many families and can hardly stand a higher strain financially.

If only the borough would manage as do some housekeepers. It is the same thing on a different scale.

The borough assessors should be made to get busy, and I mean busy, and see that those young men and women in places of employment are paying taxes instead of laughing at those who are.

Young women, to 27, still are not paying taxes, but working in factories and earning good money. Maybe some men, too. It goes hard to hear them say, "If you are crazy enough to register at the polls, then pay taxes!"

What do assessors get paid for, anyhow?

I realize the day is here to work less and get higher wages; time to change their ways.

Get busy and tax those who have not been paying taxes and you will be surprised at the dollars that will roll in. Use them, but don't raise the taxes.

Who Are the Brutes?

To the Editor: It is people like P. J. M. ("Dog Loving Has Its Limits" Readers Say, Oct. 11) who make me realize that the man who said, "The more I see of people, the better I like my dog," was no chump!

You speak of innocent children being bitten. Did you ever see an innocent little kiddie testing a dog?

I like both children and dogs but I think that a little reason should be applied to this situation. Both can be nice and both can be nasty, even as you and I, so why say "Down with the wild blood-thirsty brutes?"

WASHINGTON

New England to Swing Strongly for Gov. Dewey

By RAY TUCKER

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 14 — The six small states of New England, which normally parallel the nation-wide pattern of voting in presidential years, will cast their ballots for the Dewey-Warren ticket with the possible exception of Rhode Island, which has only four electoral votes.

And there is a bare possibility that Democratic National chairman J. Howard McGrath's bid for reelection may fall into the Republican column.

Franklin D. Roosevelt destroyed the Republican-inspired myth that "as Maine goes, so goes the nation." One of the classics of modern political wisecracking was James A. Farley's comment, after the Landon debacle in 1936, that, "as Maine goes, so goes Vermont."

But the historical fact is that New England, whose sturdy sons and daughters streamed across the country to settle cities and organize states beyond the Mississippi river and the Rockies, still provides the voting pattern for the United States.

Yankee land has almost the same proportion of manufacturing and farming as the nation has. It is blessed with the same percentage of immigrant children who, landing at Boston or Ellis Island, trekked westward.

New England, in short, is a most excellent laboratory test in any presidential election.

REMARKS: With the exception of Maine, where the Alf Landon political syrup still flows from the maple trees, New England swore by Franklin D. Roosevelt. His all-things-to-all-men sermons won him every important voting element from Bangor to Boston. He even helped to elect a Congressman from Maine in the early New Deal years.

But the Democratic political shine has worn thin. The great Roman Catholic vote—the Irish, the French-Canadians and the Poles—has been shocked by Truman's pro-Stalin deals at Potsdam and by F. D. R.'s concessions to Moscow at Yalta.

Two offhand and ill-considered remarks by President Truman will cost him thousands of votes in this country—enough to lose all New England, with its sizable electoral total.

The presidential statements hurled him up here are as of-the-cuff remarks at the editors' dinner last spring that "I like Uncle Joe." The other press conference offering that will lose him votes is his characterization of the Congressional Committee's investigation of governmental Communists as a "red herring."

Mr. Truman may win Rhode Island's four electoral votes. Not, however, because of his popularity in "Little Rhody." Only because Mr. McGrath and Senator Green, a multi-millionaire, will spend big money to maintain their national prestige.

EFFICIENT: As related in an earlier column from Albany, the Democrats have no funds, are not ringing doorbells and are concentrating on their local rather than on the Truman-Barkley ticket.

But at Albany and Boston the writer ran into the most efficient public and political relations organizations, on the Republican side, he has seen in almost 30 years of going around politics.

At Albany, the Dewey gathering of stories or material approximates a newspaperman's dream. At the New York Capital or on tour, speeches and biographical stuff are prepared at least one day ahead. A newspaper reporter (and they are the most important men on a campaign train), a columnist, a radio commentator or a magazine writer gets his material far ahead of his deadline.

LABOR: The writer's automobile tour through one of the most industrialized sections of the United States—from Maryland to Maine, including New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York suggests that the Hartley-Taft Act will not be an important issue in the presidential campaign, although President Truman hopes to capitalize on his veto of the measure.

FLOWERS FOR THE LIVING

For MISS PHYLLIS LEVENGOOD Gilbertsville

BECAUSE her engagement to Mr. Robert S. Spayd, New Berlinville, was recently announced.

Were you ever bitten? Sure, so was I —and I wasn't minding my own business or trying to save a life either.

I'm telling you, if I were a dog and people would do to me what I have seen done to dogs, I'd do worse than take one little bite in self-defense.

I'm not trying to put animals on a level with humans—just trying to raise humans above the level of dogs.

You speak of a thin veneer of domesticity covering a wild bloodthirsty nature. Well, how thick is the veneer on civilized humans and at what point will it crack and the savage, primitive man break through?

Lay that club down brother!

Pottstown UNDEBUNKED

Gives Dog's Side of It

To the Editor: In reference to "Snapping Dog on the Loose" in Readers Say, Oct. 11 by Want Action: I am the owner of that black dog to which you are referring.

I was notified from the police station as to what he did and I kept him tied up for over a week.

But, with it all, I don't think he snapped at your wife. I know he does plenty of barking which I have tried very hard to correct.

If he would be a snapping dog I wouldn't let him near children, and he has played with very little ones on the block. Your wife must have done something to him like many others have done that I know about. That's why he barks at them.

I think, too, that dogs should be treated a little better than they are. People make trouble and fight and so do dogs when it isn't right with them. Put it all together — Who is man's best friend? His dog.

Why do we put a license on a dog if he hasn't any freedom? A car has one to go places. So does everything else. Why not a dog?

How would you like to be tied up in your yard all the time? I hope you too can walk down Chestnut street and be a friend to my dog.

Pottstown ALYCE MOSER

Wants No 'Meddlers'

To the Editor: M. R. P.'s opening sentence ("Limerick Needs Modern School" Readers Say, Oct. 13) should have contained "a long-time meddler" rather than "a long-time observer."

Let his interest rest on the Sanatoga firehouse, which is evidently more in his line.

Many of the objections, including this writer's, are that the consolidation will not benefit the majority of the taxpayers as it is now proposed, and the methods used to present the idea to the public are anything but straightforward.

Public hearings by the school board should benefit everyone—even those not directly concerned.

Confused on Airport Needs

To the Editor: Several weeks ago when I first read about the Airport Fund, the amount necessary at the time was $4500. Now I read that in order to be able to obtain State and Federal grants, a fund amounting to $3150 must be furnished.

Whose pocket does the $1500 go in? Is this a sample of borough government here in Pottstown?

Please explain, if you can.

Pottstown INTERESTED OBSERVER

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CLARICE, V., 18, is an attractive brunet.

"Dr. Crane, I become so embarrassed because of excessive perspiration," she protested.

"Even when it isn't especially warm, I perspire under my arms, and I am so afraid I shall offend people because of 'B.O.'"

"It has now reached the point where I am beginning to shun crowds. In fact, I have turned down several dates in the last month just because this is becoming an obsession with me, and I dread going out."

"So, Dr. Crane, will you please tell me what I can do to stop perspiration?"

LET'S TACKLE the problem from the medical or physiological angle first. There are two kinds of sweat glands in our skin, one of which is called the apocrine, meaning it loses part of its protoplasm while secreting.

These apocrine sweat glands are especially numerous in the armpits and around the groin. Among dark-skinned races and brunet individuals, they are also much more plentiful.

And the sweat from the apocrine glands is more odorous or rancid than that from the brow or palms of the hands. These apocrine sweat glands are also more active in women around their monthly periods.

One of the chief functions of the sweat glands is to cool the body by pouring perspiration over the skin, where its evaporation reduces the skin temperature.

A fever thermometer under our tongue may register 98.6 degrees but the skin will register many degrees lower than that.

The human skin thus serves in much the same capacity as the radiator in a motor car. It helps regulate our temperature and especially prevent it from rising much above 98.6 degrees.

It is very foolish, therefore, to wish for some method for stopping perspiration. The only sure way to check it is death. If we did artificially stop it by some chemical or insulating method, we would die from the high temperature that would immediately follow.

The best ways for reducing perspiration consist, first of all, of lessening the amount of heat produced through oxidation of food products. In short, don't overeat.

Second, eliminate the excess rolls of fat which insulate your body.

Third, exhort yourself so you feel calm and poised when in a crowd. For when you are nervous, fearful or worried, your blood pressure rises.

Aside from physical inactivity, frequent bathing, the use of astringents under the arms, perfume, plus low fluid intake, there are no other safe methods of reducing perspiration.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 14 — Clark Gable doesn't know it yet (because he's sailing the mountainous seas between here and Catalina on the Phil Berg's boat) but Metro has him penciled in for the top spot in "Battleground," which is headman Dore Schary's answer to "The Big Parade." Clark may not like the idea because of his just-completed war film, "Command Decision," but after all—he'd be king-pin in a picture already loaded with star names. Gable got back from N. Y. last week and immediately took his favorite femme, Anita Colby out for a "quiet dinner." Before the evening was over they were joined by a few thousand intimate chums. They didn't have much privacy, but they had a lotta lafs. One who sat down, after being coaxed to leave, was Pat Di Cicco (he's such a wolf that the birds and the bees tell their children about HIM) an old pal of Clark's who started his ribbing with, "What do you mean—pussy-footing through Europe and then coming back here to turn the charm act on this poor little girl, etc. etc.?" Gable and other sit-arounders broke up! There was more to the routine.

JOB UPON A TIME

The first United States woman senator, Hattie Wyatt Caraway, was a farm housewife before she was appointed to fill the unexpired term of her late husband, and then elected to the Senate in her own right. Her first official utterance on entering the Senate chamber is said to have been, "The windows need washing." After 13 years of law making, "Miss Hattie," as her colleagues called her, retired from her Senate post in 1944, but is still working for the government as a member of the Federal Employees Compensation commission. Mrs. Caraway was born on a farm near Bakerville, Tenn., attended a small normal college and married Thaddeus B. Caraway, a lawyer, who took her to Lake City, Ark., to live. Caraway became United States senator in 1930. He died in 1931.

Gen. Lewis H. Brereton, U. S. Army, graduated, paradoxically, from the United States Naval academy, Annapolis, Md. Coming out second best in competitive examinations for West Point, Brereton had to choose the Navy although he had no love for the sea. When he was graduated in 1911, however, due to a "peculiar military situation," the Navy had too many young ensigns, and the Army too few second lieutenants, so Brereton transferred to the aviation division of the Signal Corps and learned to fly. In World War I Brereton went to France for combat and staff service, and after the war he was air attaché at the American embassy in Paris. In World War II, now Lieutenant General Brereton, was commander of the United States Air Forces in India, Middle East and European theater.

Driver-Training Course Advantages Told to Club

Charles I. Hamilton, driver-training instructor at the Pottstown Senior High School spoke enthusiastically of the value of the course in cutting accident rates in a talk before members of the Pottstown Optimist club Tuesday night.

Hamilton described the decline of accidents in towns and cities where the course had been a part of school work for many years.

He showed a motion picture of typical driver-training courses, remarking, "Almost any car can be converted easily into a driver-training car."

At some schools, he said, boys and girls were taught to drive the school bus, because regular driver-training vehicles were not available.

Twenty-four members of the Optimist club heard Hamilton during their meeting in Arts diner West High street.

Big Sports Program For Local Schools Discussed by Good

Edward Y. Good, physical education director of Pottstown's schools, last night told the Rotary club of an organized sports program planned to include all grades from elementary school to Senior High.

The program now begins at the fourth grade, he said, with soft-ball, track and other sports.

The complete projected program calls for varied athletics open to all children in grades above five.

There are now three football teams and two basketball teams in Junior High, he said, and a track team is tentatively scheduled.

ONE OBSTACLE in the path of further development of sports, he went on, is the cost of equipment. He pointed out that a cost of $100 to outfit one football player. In addition to the 80 Junior High footballers, there are 70 in Senior High.

Good explained that another problem was the lack of teachers to assist with activities after school hours.

He blamed this on teachers' low salaries, forcing them to seek outside part-time jobs, and the fact that staff teachers are burdened with more work now because of the general shortage of teachers.

The club will take part in the Community Chest parade on Oct. 25. Sixty-five members were present last night.

Wallace Says Democrats, Republicans Always Have Been 'Brutally Anti-Labor'

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 14 (P)—Henry Wallace said tonight the pattern of Democratic and Republican actions at home and abroad is always "brutally anti-labor" and "calculated only to enrich a few murder merchants."

He continued his bitter attacks on the Truman administration in a speech delivered at Milwaukee auditorium, while President Truman himself was speaking at a ball park in the same city.

Wallace, running for Mr. Truman's job on the Progressive party ticket, warmly defended the former leadership of Local 248 of the CIO United Auto Workers. He did not mention those leaders by name.

One of them, Harold Christoffel, has been convicted of perjury because he told the House labor committee he wasn't a Communist.

Wallace, in connection with Local 248, slapped hard at Mr. Truman, at the new anti-Communist leadership of the local, at the Allis-Chalmers corporation where the local was on strike for nearly a year and at Rep. Kersten (R-Wis.) a leading investigator of charges that the local was Communist-dominated.

He said Mr. Truman "never lifted a finger to prevent destruction of union standards" at Allis-Chalmers, and "did what he could to help destroy the union."

French Protest Sniping By Arabs in Holy Land

JERUSALEM, Oct. 14 (P)—French Consul General Rene Neuville was reported officially today to have protested to the United Nations against Arab sniping in the Holy City.

Authorized quarters said Neuville, chairman of the three-nation U. N. Consular Truce commission, had complained to the Security council that the Arab continued to fire on certain foreign consulates and also the headquarters of U. N. observers.

Wyndcroft Pupils Tour Dairy Farm

Fourteen Second grade pupils at the Wyndcroft school saw a modern dairy in operation when they made an inspection tour of the Laurel Locks farm.

Arriving in time to watch the electric milkers milking the Guernsey herd, the pupils followed the milk through the pasteurization processes, its cooling and its eventual bottling and capping.

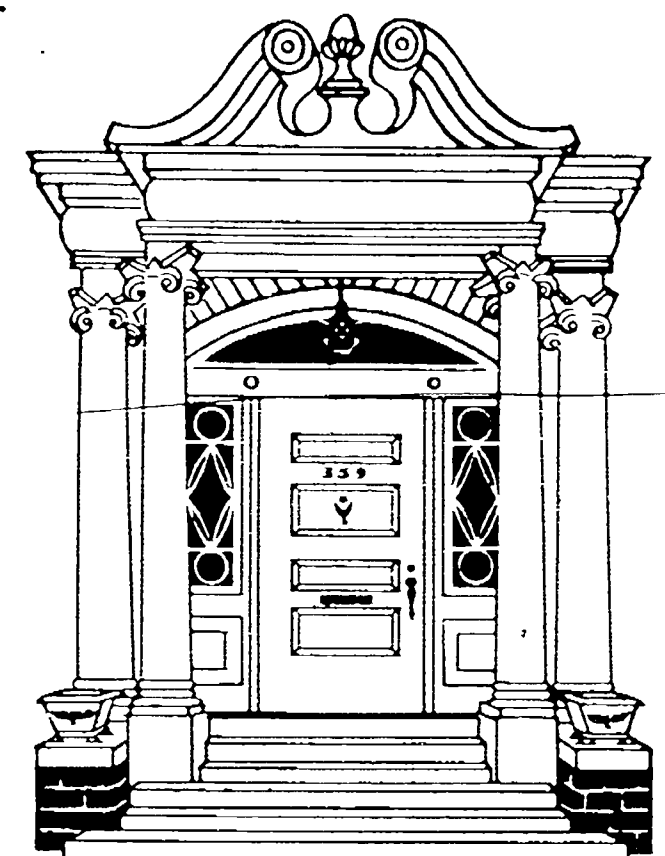

Miller C. Long, manager of the farm, guided the children on their tour. The class was accompanied by Angeline Oberholtzer, a teacher at the school. Transportation was provided by Mrs. Robert Jeffries, Schuykill road, and Mrs. C. D. Marshall, Laurel Locks.

The field trip was part of a group of three trips on which First, Second, and Third grade pupils will visit the farm. Third grade pupils will make the trip next week.

OLDEST EX-MARINE DIES

The three classes are rubber-powered models, hand-launched gliders and tow-line gliders.

Event club members will be on hand at 10 a. m. Saturday at the parking space in Manatoway park to supervise the meet.

Should the meet interfere with cars parking for the Valley Forge Kennel club dog show, scheduled to begin at the same time, the meet will be shifted.

This was disclosed by William White, special advisor who is president of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad. He recently completed a survey of the railway net in Western Germany.

He said sufficient progress has been made in the rehabilitation of the German railroads so that they are no longer regarded increased industrial activity.

Golden Jubilee Teaching Fete to Honor Miss Annie Y. Dengler, Colebrookdale

Miss Annie Y. Dengler, Colebrookdale, who has been a teacher of boys in the Intermediate department of the Good Shepherd Evangelical and Reformed church school for the past 50 years, will mark her golden jubilee on Tuesday, Oct. 19.

She has had as her class members a total of 110 boys, many of whom, having grown to manhood, have sent their sons and even their grandsons to her for instruction.

All her class members are remembered by the teacher. She has a picture of each year's class and is still able to identify all the students. She has maintained a careful record of these boys, the same as she did as teacher at the Colebrookdale schools, from which she recently retired.

THE CHURCH SCHOOL of the Good Shepherd is planning a special testimonial for her in the form of a covered-dish social and it is expected that most of the boys who were members of her classes will be on hand.

While she was obliged, because of a physical disability, to retire as a teacher in the Colebrookdale school some years ago, after 45 years of service, she has continued to teach in her church school.

Throughout the years that she taught school and class, Miss Dengler maintained a complete record of all her students, and kept a diary of their activities since then. These records and pictures are included in a series of "memory books" which she keeps.

Miss Dengler began her teaching career upon her graduation in 1898 from the Kutztown State Teachers college. She is one of 18 members of her family who have served as public school teachers. Her sister, Miss Amy Y. Dengler, is at present a member of the faculty in the Colebrookdale school.

In 1940, more than a quarter of the population of the United States were people who were born outside the country or born of alien parents.

Gun Club Prepares Safety Zone Posters

In order to co-operate with farmers and land-owners in the Boyertown area, "Safety Zone" posters have been prepared by the Boyertown Rod and Gun Club, Inc., and are to be distributed before the opening of small game season on Nov. 1.

The signs prohibit hunting in the enclosed area and are available at the following: Grabert's service station, Mest's News Agency, Sands Sports store, Boyertown Oil company service station.

Vice President William Bohner conducted a meeting of the club, held recently, and Joseph E. Leindecker, district game protector, spoke on "Sportsmanship and Obeying the Law." Motion pictures on "Big Game Hunting in Alaska" and "Fishing in Deep Water" were shown.

The club recently stocked pheasants, grown under a club-sponsored rearing program. A flying board shoot for dressed turkeys, hams and ducks will be held on Saturday.

The annual meeting of the association was set tentatively for Sunday, Jan. 9.

U. N. IS ASKED TO PROBE DEATH OF BERNADOTTE

Britain, China Propose Security Council Demand Reports From Jews, Arabs

PARIS, Oct. 14 (AP)—Britain and China today proposed that the Security Council demand from Israel a full accounting of what is being done to track down the assassins of Count Folke Bernadotte.

The two powers also called on both Arabs and Jews for a tighter truce in Palestine through strict compliance with United Nations orders.

The joint draft resolution expressed concern that Israel had not reported on its investigation into the slaying of Bernadotte, the U. N. mediator, and an aide, French Col. Andre Serot, in the Jewish section of Jerusalem, Sept. 17. Israel says they were killed by a splinter group of the Stern gang, Jewish terrorist organization.

No vote was taken on the proposal but another meeting on Palestine is expected soon.

AUBREY S. EBAN, Israeli representative, told the council his government has arrested "over 200 members of the organization believed responsible" and "the days of organized terrorism are over."

Eban said the leader of the "suspected organization" is in jail. An Israeli spokesman said he referred to Nathan Friedman-Yellin, leader of the Stern gang.

Democrats Sweep Posts In Alaska's Election

Red Labor Leader Threatens Italy With Strike of Seven Million

ROME, Oct. 14 (AP)—Italy's Communists' labor chief, Giuseppe di Vittorio, today threatened the nation with a 7,000,000-man general strike unless the government satisfies demands of striking state workers.

More than 1,000,000 government employees, considered a center or right-of-center white collar class, were called out today for one to nine hours to support their demands for higher wages and other benefits.

In Rome, however, where a large part of the government employees work, all but the ministry of posts and telegraphs reported a majority of their people stayed on the job.

The average barometric pressure at 5,000 feet altitude is 24.89 inches of mercury.

Six Neutral Nations Confident They Can Find Berlin Solution

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin said today the Russians must "keep on their side of the garden wall" if they can't get along with the rest of the world.

In a speech before the National Union of Manufacturers, Bevin said the British "have ceased to be an imperialist race. We dominate nobody." But Russia, he continued, "is the one country in the world that is still imperialistic—still as imperialistic as Ivan the Terrible, as Frederick the Great, or as Alexander."

His speech was reported by the Press Association and Exchange Telegraph, two British news agencies. A spokesman for the union said foreign correspondents could not be accommodated in the conference hall.

Bevin said the "key to whether we shall have peace for 100 years is in the great problem of the Indian ocean—the Middle East, Pakistan, India and Ceylon."

Six Neutral Nations Confident They Can Find Berlin Solution

PARIS, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Security Council's neutral nations tonight pushed last-minute efforts to uncover a solution to the Berlin crisis acceptable to the East and West.

Council President Juan A. Bramuglia told newsmen he still thinks there is a chance the six neutrals he speaks for will find a solution of their own "just and acceptable" to Russia and the Western Powers.

Western delegates met for hours in secret session on the eve of renewed council debate on Berlin. Authoritative sources said they still were waiting for the neutrals to come through with a plan. The Russians also were reported to be showing keen interest in off-the-floor maneuvering.

The council meets tomorrow at 3 p. m.

BRAMUGLIA, ARGENTINE foreign minister, admitted the Berlin question was right back where it started in the council with both sides maintaining "their known positions." But he insisted that with all the cards on the table, the neutrals—Argentina, Belgium, Canada, China,

ITU Ordered To Abandon 'Closed Shop'

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 14 (AP)—Federal Judge Luther M. Sawyer held the International Typographical union in contempt of court today and ordered the union not to ask contractors which discriminate against hiring non-union printers.

He ruled the union had evaded his injunction against violating the Taft-Hartley law and was trying illegally to maintain a closed shop.

The judge told the ITU and its top four officers to be in court within 10 days to show that they are following his instructions given out today.

There was no penalty other than court costs, for contempt.

Counsel for the National Labor Relations board, which had asked the original injunction, had also asked for the contempt citation and had not requested a penalty.

Today's citation centered on a document sent out by the ITU to its locals.

It was headed "contract provisions which may be proposed in collective bargaining during pendency of Federal court decree" and was called a "work contract."

Probers Told Reds Had 2 Spy Rings in Capital

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Secret testimony that two Communist underground rings were operating simultaneously in the State department in the 1930s was disclosed by the House committee on un-American activities today.

Rep. Mundt (R-S.D.) and Nixon (R-Calif.), committee members, said they received the testimony, Aug. 27, in a closed-door session from Walter Chambers, an avowed ex-Communist, now a Time magazine editor, said the purpose of the Red underground was to infiltrate the government everywhere possible.

Chambers testified he talked with Alger Hiss, a former State department official, about several persons who might be drawn into the "Red cell" which, Chambers said, was already operating in the department.

He said Hiss, now president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, was a member of the cell.

Among the persons mentioned, he said, was Noel Field, then in the department's Western European division.

"State department records show that a Noel Harland Field was assigned to the department's Western European division in the early 1930s. He resigned April 30, 1935."

Personalities in the News

When Konstantin Efremov, Soviet consul general in San Francisco, was ready to pull out after the consulate had been ordered closed, he worked days straightening out his affairs.

Finally on the day he was to leave, he found that there was one detail he had overlooked.

Jimmy Allen, 13-year-old newsboy, wanted his money.

And, he wanted it before Efremov got out of the country.

So, the youth stationed himself outside the consulate in a position in which a way that he could see all doors at the same time. He was taking no chances.

Finally Efremov emerged from the building surrounded by his aides.

Jimmy spotted him and dashed up, pulling on his coat sleeve as he muttered:

"I want my money for the newspapers."

Efremov looked at the lad and then asked, "How much?"

"One buck, two bits," Jimmy replied.

Efremov waved to one of the men in the group. He dug into his pocket.

Jimmy got his money and the last of the consulate's business in the United States was transacted.

During a recent campaign swing through Wyoming, Gov. Earl Warren, of California, was almost derailed in the town of Chugwater.

As the GOP presidential nominee stood beaming and busily shaking hands with a train-side crowd, he looked up to find his campaign train sliding off down the tracks.

Trainmen noticed that Warren was not aboard and ordered the locomotive to a halt.

Warren said laughingly: "I'll bet Virginia did it. I'll bet she tried to leave me behind."

His ten-year-old daughter was riding as an honored guest with the engineer in the cab of the Diesel locomotive.

Mrs. Solomon W. Laykin, Los Angeles, recently applied for a divorce and told the judge that her husband liked to impress friends by giving her expensive jewelry and checks.

"What's cruel about that?" inquired the judge.

"As soon as our guests were gone," Mrs. Laykin said, "my husband would take the jewelry back and destroy the check."

She got the divorce.

Lord Hampden, of Harpenden, England, has figured out just what is wrong with the world today.

After careful consideration of world affairs, Lord Hampden has decided that the trouble with the world today is the fact that Joseph Stalin never was a Boy Scout.

He said:

The gentlemen in the Kremlin have not been brought up as Boy Scouts. If they had, we might have a chance of coming to an agreement.

Elizabeth Cook Gordon, wife of songwriter Mack Gordon, is seeking $2500 a month support pending trial for her divorce suit. Gordon has agreed to pay $1000.

Mrs. Gordon explained the need for such an amount in this way:

"A thousand dollars a month just isn't enough for a girl who's been used to nice things."

The envelope of atmosphere over the earth weighs about 5½ million billion tons.

Addressing the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce recently, Rep. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) said:

"The government is gargantuan in sheer dimensions and equally gargantuan in its bewildering variety of functions and ramifications."

In other words, Rep. Dirksen is convinced that the government is too big.

Damage by Bulldozer Made Basis of Suit

By Staff Correspondent
NORRISTOWN, Oct. 14 — Damage allegedly caused to the foundation of their home when it was struck by a bulldozer is made the basis of a civil court action brought by Judson L. and Ruth Wentworth Sedelmeyer, of Collegeville, against Michael Bellock, Spring City RD 1.

The Sedelmeyers claim they hired Bellock's bulldozer to do some grading work in November, 1947. The operator's vehicle got out of control and it struck the foundation of the building. The property owners now ask that they be repaid for the $362 it cost them to repair the damage.

Other suits filed in the prothonotary's office include: Milton S. Kelus, Pottstown RD 4, against Ray S. Kelly, Norristown

RD 4, for $326 alleged due for labor and equipment for excavating and grading work.

Charles L. Bell and Russell L. Clark, trading as Bell-Clark and company, Allentown, against Venzke

Doe Club Members Learn Progress of Pottstown Hospital

Going back to 1892, Mr. A. C. Seawell, administrator of the Pottstown hospital, told members of the Doe club last night how the hospital has progressed through the years.

Mr. Seawell informed the members, who met in the Elks' home, that the hospital was founded by the Kings Daughters circle in 1892 and was officially opened on May 29, 1893, when the people of the town matched a huge sum of money that had been put up by a private citizen.

Mr. Seawell then told them how the building grew, and reported that $300,000 was spent for the recent annex.

The advantages of the orthopedic and cancer clinics were outlined and the speaker stressed the fact that although the orthopedic clinic was originally started for children, adults are urged to seek aid there.

AT THE BUSINESS meeting, at which Mrs. Nellie Koury, president, presided, the devotions were led by Mrs. Mabel Hish while Mrs. Frances Reports on the recent fashion show were given by Mrs. Betty Miller, chairman of the ways and means committee, who thanked the various committees for their help and co-operation. Members were asked to remember articles for the Navy Mother's bazaar.

Three new members, Mrs. Walter Schell, Mrs. Helen Patterson and Mrs. Dorothy Royer, were accepted and four others were proposed for membership at the next meeting. They are: Mrs. Ann Seasholtz, Mrs. Harvey Walter, Mrs. Gerald Strubhar and Mrs. Grace McCarthy.

Mr. John Loge Speaks on World Peace At Women's Civic Club Dinner Meeting

An explanation of world government was given to members of the Women's Civic Club of Schuylkill on Wednesday night by Mr. John Loge, representative from the United Federalist union.

The meeting was held in the form of a dinner at the Woodside Manor, U.S. as his title, "World Government—What and Why." Mr. Loge described the workings and organization of the World Peace movement. He told the 58 members and their husbands present that every individual could help to bring about peace if he worked hard on the subject.

Prior to his talk, the representative showed a movie concerning the destruction that would result if another war were declared.

Mrs. Nelson Schmidt was in charge of the program which featured songs by her son, Hugh Schmidt, and piano selections by Karl Schmidt, her grandson.

Virgin Islands Discussed At WSCS Study Meeting

The Virgin Islands were discussed by Mrs. Ralph Spore at a recent mission study group of the First Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service.

Held at the home of Miss Elizabeth K. Ware, 372 Walnut street, the meeting was devoted to learning about the history and the people of the Virgin Islands.

Mrs. Spore told the members how the islands were purchased from the Danes for 25 million dollars or $295 an acre, and how they are ruled by Governor Hastings, a Negro from Tennessee who is a graduate of Harvard University and who received his position through Presidential appointment.

At the next meeting, to be held at the home of Mrs. Lewis Rahn, 1120 High street on Wednesday at 2 o'clock, Mrs. Frank Seidts will speak on "Puerto Rico." Former studies have been on Alaska and the Panama Canal.

was out and the wife was stranded with no money. 5. The master of the house was out and the husband was stranded with no money. There was slight confusion on overlapping areas and one or two streets were not covered. Otherwise, the job was thorough. WHEN COLLECTION in the 12 areas was finished, scoutmaster club members and some of the scouts returned to The Mercury offices where Robert U. Borneman, scout executive of the Continental district, counted the donations. Borneman worked steadily under pressure for more than two hours counting the donations as leaders struggled in. The cash, almost entirely in one dollar bills, filled four cigar boxes and there was considerable loose change. When the scouts had finished their good-citizenship stint, they were treated to hot dogs and cokes.

THE SCOUTS AND their leaders who gave of their time and effort were:

starvation measure to drive the Allies out of Berlin. Clay added:

"During the past year, we have seen the rise of democratic forces throughout Western Europe—in Italy, France, Finland and Germany. There is a growing consciousness of the value of rights and freedoms of the individual.

"As that increases, as the ability of Western Europe to develop itself increases, as its ability to send goods to Eastern countries increases, as that comes about, Soviet expansion will not only be halted, it will recede.

"Various pressures that are inherent in the wishes of the people of Europe will become so great they cannot be resisted.

KIMBERTON

Mrs. Clarence L. Funk, Kimberton, corr. Phone Phoenixville 6337, Lile McDonald, del. Phone Eagle 49-R-22.

Kimberton grange met recently, with Worthy Master Clyde Sheib presiding. The business meeting was conducted at which time it was decided to hold a card party, Nov. 9, in the grange hall. Corn Night was observed at the meeting, and judges were Mrs. Clarence Kemmery, of Brandywine grange, Mrs. Paisgrove, of Vincent, and Mrs. Heien Mowrer, of Vincent grange, who judged the pumpkins, apple pies and mush. Leon Wadworth and Henry Worthington, of Brandywine grange, judged the corn.

Mrs. Katie Yeager won first prize for apple pie and Mrs. Mollie Miller came in second. Prizes for pumpkin pie were won by Mrs. Harry Davis, Mrs. Cleveland Gow and Mrs. Harry Flasher. Mrs. Clarence Funk won first prize for mush, while prizes for corn were won by Clyde Sheib, Wayne Hoffman and Wallace Walter Sheib. Everett Wilson was voted as having the best ear of corn.

The legend of Pomona was read by Betty Koffroth, a duet was rendered by Kathleen and Joan Morgan and a talk on corn and its uses was given by Everett Wilson. Also adding to the entertainment was a reading, entitled, "Sausage," given by Betty Koffroth; a solo by Dickie Morgan, "You Can't Be True Dear"; a reading by Betty Cook, "The Country Store"; and a trio by Kathleen, Joan and Dickie Morgan. Refreshments of pie and coffee were served. It was decided to hold the next meeting one week earlier, Oct. 19, because of the State grange meeting at Reading on Oct. 26.

Snakes generally will swallow artificial porcelain eggs as fast as genuine ones, and since they cannot digest the artificial variety, this often proves fatal to the snake.

N. Coventry Grange Plans Square Dance For Sunday, Oct. 31

Young people of the North Coventry Grange planned their first Fall social affair at last night's grange meeting. They will hold a square dance in the Grange hall at 8 o'clock the night of Sunday, Oct. 31. The night before, all grange members will take part in a Halloween social, also beginning at 8 o'clock. During their business session last night, the grangers agreed to co-operate in the rat-control program of the Chester county Agriculture Extension Service. Miller C. Long, a grange member and director of the extension service, presented details of the control program. Long was made a member of a special grange committee to work on the project. Serving with him will be Robert Swavely and Russel Stauffer.

ANOTHER COMMITTEE was formed to help solicit funds and volunteer workers for the agricultural building planned for the North Coventry Senior High school.

Members of the new group include C. Rudolph Kuip, Harvey Walters, Kent High, William A. Barth, Albert Hughes and Howard Gault.

Norco grange members were entertained by 40 members of the Lyndell Grange, from near Eagle. A program of music, readings and skits was put on by the visitors.

Mrs. Kuip, Norco grange master, took charge of the meeting. Sixty-five members and ten guests, from the Kimberton and Keystone Granges, were present.

the size of the loan. No contractor will tell us today how much he's going to charge tomorrow—we'll just have to do the best we can."

Dr. J. Allen Minnich, president of the Limerick Home and School league, who acted as moderator, backed Dunlap on this point, and told one of the questioners:

"We can't have any speech-making here. We just want to give everyone the chance to ask questions."

As Dunlap continued with his description of the school, he pointed out, "We figure it will give each pupil about twice the time for instruction that he has today. The conditions that many of our school children live under (in the one-room school buildings) most taxpayers wouldn't tolerate in their homes."

Dunlap went on to emphasize that the school building would be "nothing fancy," and that it would be situated "as nearly centrally as possible."

QUESTIONED on the actual need for the new school, Dunlap said, "This township is growing—we have to prepare for the future, not just for next year."

If there was little opposition openly expressed last night, there was just as little approval until the vote was taken at the meeting's end.

Not more than half a dozen persons asked questions.

Pamphlets describing the proposed school were passed out to the audience, as well as copies of the 1947-48 and 1948-49 budgets.

Members of the Home and School league prepared posters to distribute over the township, urging voters to approve the $210,000 bond issue on Nov. 2.

DOG SHOW —

Training club and the performance will be under the general supervision of James Bauer, club president.

Besides the wire-haired, three Collies, a Doberman Pinscher and an Irish terrier will be the performers. The demonstration will be held at about 2 o'clock during group judging.

Not all the dogs in the obedience test will do all these tricks. They vary from Novice A, Open A, and Utility in class of experience, the last rating being the highest.

Some of the demonstration dogs were shown two years ago at the Junior High school.

MEANWHILE, arrangements for the show, scheduled to begin at 10 a. m. on Manatawny park island, neared completion yesterday.

Two of the 200-foot tents were up last night and the two smaller ones will be raised today.

The bridge between the parking lot just north of King street, across the branch of the Manatawny to the island, will be erected today.

the Republican candidate," Mr. Truman said, "that powerful selfish groups within the Republican party are determined to exploit the atom for private profit."

"I shall fight this effort with all my strength."

Dewey had said atomic secrets and military developments must remain a Government monopoly at all costs but beyond this security precaution, he said, atomic progress cannot continue to be left exclusively under "the dead hand of government."

Mr. Truman got into his atomic speech after his day of campaigning through southern Minnesota and Wisconsin, farming country and hitting Dewey on other issues.

FURTHERMORE, HE finished plans for a nine-speech big city windup of a campaign he says is one of the most momentous in the country's history.

He will broadcast over all networks from his Independence, Mo., home on election eve, Nov. 1. His aides said it will be a "get out and vote" appeal and that Senator Alben W. Barkley, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, will join him from Paducah, Ky.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

Which Is More Exact?
WITH MANY players, a raise of the partner's major suit bid, if not made at the first chance to raise it, shows that the raiser does not possess four cards of the suit and warns the first bidder to be prepared for only three-card support if he has just four cards of it himself. These bidders, when possessing four cards of the major suit, will show the fit at once, with either a single raise in a hand of ordinary strength, or a double raise to show game strength opposite a minimum and possible slam chances, or a raise all the way to game when having splendid distributional supports but a holding weak in high card values.

North received a chance to rebid spades with six of them.
Of course the 4-Hearts contract worked, one trick each being lost in spades, hearts and diamonds.

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Andrew Yusko, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Yusko, 21 Warwick Settlement, came home from the Pottstown hospital Wednesday and was staying clear of trees.

Andrew and two neighborhood chums were playing "house" in a tree in the Yuskos' back yard. They had an old bed spring ten feet up in the branches.

When the spring slipped, two of the boys fell. Andrew was the only one hurt. His mother rushed him to the hospital. He is doing nicely now.
